Fresh face of Big Fish

CABOOLTURE icon the Big Fish Tavern has launched its fresh new face.

After being taken over by new management two months ago, the tavern has undergone a makeover including new furniture and carpets and a new bistro-style menu.

The new management team includes husband and wife Michael and Sue Thorn who have an extensive history in the hotel management business.

For 16 years they managed the Queanbeyan Hotel in the ACT where they built up a strong family-orientated business.

Mr Thorn said he was looking forward to welcoming back locals to experience the revamped establishment.

"We are confident that people will be impressed with the changes we have implemented in the last two months," he said.

"Sue and I are very hands-on at the tavern and you will often see me behind the bar, pouring a beer and getting to know our customers."

Other changes include bringing back live entertainment, with local country rock musicians and soloists every Friday from 7pm.

Starting in spring there will also be entertainment on Sunday afternoons between 1pm and 5pm.
